Think On This...

There is a great need in the church today to “restore” a motivational concern for the lost. In his book, “Evangelism In The Early Church” Michael Green sees three main motives common to the earliest Christian tellers of the, “GOOD NEWS”

1. A sense of gratitude
2. A sense of concern or compassion for the lost
3. A sense of responsibility

Green feels that there can be little doubt that their incitement into action in winning souls was because of the overwhelming experience of the love of God which they had received through Jesus Christ.

When we love Christ, we want to share Him with others. He has given us a commission to go, share, preach, immerse and continue to teach until He comes again. With grateful hearts, with a sense of concern for those who need Jesus and with a perception of duty which is motivated by our love of Christ, will we respond to the mission at hand? If not us, Who? If now, when?

Sharing Christ with you,

Pastor John
